

A close-up, artistic photograph of a guitar's fretboard and strings. The lighting is dramatic, with a strong light source from the left creating a bright, warm glow on the fretboard and strings, while the rest of the guitar and the background are in deep shadow. The focus is sharp on the frets and strings, showing the texture of the wood and the metal of the frets.

EDUARDO SAINZ DE LA MAZA

Nació en Burgos el 5 de enero de 1903. Es el tercer hijo de una familia con gran sentido artístico. Su hermano mayor, Regino, fue un eminente guitarrista y su hermano Francisco, un buen pintor. Eduardo estudia guitarra en Madrid con Daniel Fortea, a su vez, alumno de Tárrega. En 1916 se traslada a Barcelona, donde da su primer concierto a los 14 años. Estudia guitarra con Miguel Llobet y también violoncello, instrumento del que fue un buen solista y que alterna con la guitarra en sus conciertos públicos, a lo largo de los años 20. Casado en 1925 con la pianista italiana Elda Giacomelli, decide instalarse definitivamente en Barcelona, donde profundiza sus estudios de composición con Enric Morera, célebre compositor catalán y alumno de Albéniz y Pedrell. A partir de los años 50 abandona su carrera de concertista para dedicarse casi exclusivamente a la composición y a la docencia mientras su hermano Regino – que estrenó el ‘Concierto de Aranjuez’ de Rodrigo – prosigue su carrera de concertista internacional. Murió en Barcelona el 5 de diciembre de 1982.

Como compositor, su catálogo es importante y variado. Destacó como arreglista de obras populares del folklore español, pero hoy son aún más apreciadas sus composiciones originales. Utiliza un lenguaje ecléctico, con influencias impresionistas,⁶ pero muy enraizado en la tradición musical española. También el jazz influyó en su obra, generalmente íntima y lírica, en la que destaca la Suite ‘Platero y yo’ una de las composiciones más notables para guitarra, del siglo XX español.

Eduardo Sainz de la Maza was born in Burgos on 5th January 1903. He was the third son of an extremely artistic family – of his brothers, Regino was an eminent guitarist and Francisco a great painter. Initially, Eduardo studied the guitar in Madrid with Daniel Fortea, a pupil of Tárrega. In 1916 he moved to Barcelona, where he studied guitar with Miguel Llobet, giving his first concert at the age of 14. At this time he also studied the cello and in fact during the 1920s he performed as a soloist of both the guitar and cello. When Eduardo married the Italian pianist Elda Giacomelli in 1925 he decided to move to Barcelona, where he studied composition with Enric Morera, a famous Catalan composer who was a pupil of Albéniz and Pedrell. By the end of the 1950s he had abandoned his career as a soloist to dedicate himself almost exclusively to composing and teaching, leaving Regino to continue as the international soloist (giving the premiere of ‘Concierto de Aranjuez’ by Rodrigo). Eduardo Sainz de la Maza died on 5th December 1982.

A significant composer who produced a great variety of work, Eduardo Sainz de la Maza has always been well-known for his arrangements of Spanish popular folk songs, but it is his original compositions which are seen as most important today. The musical language he employed was eclectic, combining impressionistic influences with deep rooted Spanish musical tradition. Jazz was also an influence, although the majority of his works are intimate and lyrical, as is the ‘Platero y yo Suite’ – one of the most notable compositions for guitar of the 20th century.

VIII. A PLATERO EN SU TIERRA

Tú, Platero, estás solo en el pasado. Pero, ¿qué más te da el pasado a tí, que vives en lo eterno, que, como yo aquí, tienes en tu mano, grana como el corazón de Dios, el sol de cada aurora?

Juan Ramón Jiménez

Allegretto ♩ = 108

The image displays a musical score for 'The Wind' by Gustav Mahler. It features a complex passage with multiple staves. The notation includes various musical symbols such as notes, rests, and fingerings. The score is written in a key with three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and a 3/4 time signature. The piece is marked 'CV' (Crescendo) and includes a '4 3 2 1' fingering sequence. The notation is dense and intricate, typical of Mahler's style.

The first system of the musical score is written on a single staff with a treble clef and a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#). The tempo is marked 'Allegretto' and the time signature is 3/4. The music begins with a wavy line indicating a tremolo on the first note. Above the staff, Roman numerals are placed over groups of notes: CII, CIV, CIV, CIV, CIII, CII, CII, and CIV. Fingering numbers (0, 2, 3, 1, 3, 4, 2, 3, 4, 3, 1, 2, 3) are written below the notes. A piano dynamic marking 'p' appears twice. The system ends with a double bar line.
